What makes us different

The Story of Mindmaps Wellbeing;
After spending a solid 18 years working in various roles for the NHS, Tim recognised the significance of applying a preventative approach to mental ill health. He believed that educating workplaces and communities on the importance of mental health first aid and awareness training would equip individuals with the necessary tools to look after their own mental wellbeing and to support others.

By teaching people the early signs of poor mental health, Tim hoped to prevent potential crises from occurring.

With a clear vision in mind, Tim shared his ambition with his friend Mikey, who was a business development manager with extensive operations experience.

Recognising the value of Tim's project, Mikey eagerly joined forces to help him achieve this goal.

Meeting The Highest Standards

Creating a work environment where employees feel comfortable discussing their mental health and recognising the early signs of mental illness can prevent future mental health crises. To improve overall health in the workplace, it's important for employers to support their staff and empower employees to take charge of their own mental wellbeing.

Registered with the Nursing & Midwifery Council or HCPC as Mental Health Professionals and Healthcare Educators

Working in partnership with Vitality UK to equip workplaces with the necessary tools to foster and maintain employee well-being.

'Enlightening, interesting & very engaging. Tim was very knowledgable, delivering a great course'

'This was quite simply the best training I've ever had. It will change the way I think about mental health forever. If I need help, I want someone like Tim in my corner'

Organisation approach to workplace wellbeing

Promoting workplace wellbeing is vital, and now is time to make changes for our workplace culture to better support those with mental health concerns. A comprehensive approach is necessary to ensure everyone in the organisation – including employers, managers and staff – are trained to provide the necessary support. Participants in our courses will not only learn how to assist others, but also how to take care of their own mental wellbeing. With a wealth of resources & self-care tools through our exclusive MINDWELL Companion.

The organisational approach involves educating everyone about workplace wellbeing in a positive light, without the stigma and discrimination associated with mental illness. It's crucial to create a safe space where employees feel comfortable discussing their wellbeing and to seek appropriate help when required.

Workplace Wellbeing Skills For Leaders & Managers

Learn how to engage in meaningful conversations about workplace wellbeing with the supports designed to enhance your skills as an effective leader.

Empowering leaders and managers to support mental wellbeing in the workplace. This comprehensive course is designed to equip learners with the necessary knowledge and skills to support themselves and their team's wellbeing.

Balancing the individual versus the business needs is a common conundrum many workplaces face when it comes to making suitable adjustments for someone's mental wellbeing.

By participating in this course, learners will become skilled in how to navigate these challenges with confidence and professionalism.

This course includes FREE access to MINDWELL companion for 2 or 3 years!

Initially designed as a one-day course, through collaboration with The University of Cambridge, we extended it to offer a two-day option, to enhance a practical application of the course outcomes.

Day two is dedicated to practising the skills learned on day one, allowing for a hands-on approach and providing the attendees with a higher level of confidence going into their wellbeing conversations.

“These guys have a brilliant offering of information, case studies and practical sessions, relating to my team at their level superbly. Totally up to date with current thinking, offering multiple solutions for real-world issues raised in group discussions.”

AC Landscapes & Treeworks

At the end of 2018 I used the MHFA website to find an approved trainer in the local area and spoke to several individuals and companies to select the right trainer to suit our needs. Tim Lloyd of Mindmaps Wellbeing came up on my search and dropped him an email. Tim sent me his CV, and we had a chat over the phone of what we needed and how he could help. With his background with the NHS I knew this guy was clearly going to know what he was talking about. At the start of 2019 myself and others appropriately selected employees ranging from various levels within the business and different area of the business sat with Tim. The idea was to select employees who would be willing to discuss mental health issues but also coming from various sectors of the business which would hopefully give the employees the opportunity to speak with others outside their business structure.

I left the training and reflected on what I now needed to do to promote this within the business. We started with safety briefs and talks on site with the teams to discuss the training we had completed, who were the mental health first aiders and what they could bring to the business. We have also rolled out, with the assistance of Mindmaps Wellbeing, the half day course for all employees and soon will be delivering the one day for all managers or supervisors. As a business we are treating mental health training as we would with any other first aid courses, which are a mandatory for all on site.

Perhaps, due to employees not wanting to admit their mental state or embarrassed to say they have a mental health illness, but I knew it was an area which we needed to improve. With the nature of our works and certainly speaking within our business, we are predominately a male driven organisation. It is notoriously known that men to do not talk or hide their thoughts and feelings, breaking this stigma was going to be a challenge.

If I am 100% honest, I had no idea what to expect. I had no idea what I would achieve from the training and how I could relate it back to the business. I knew mental health was and is a difficult topic to discuss and from a business perspective we had never had to deal with any crises.

AC also wanted to develop our relationship with Mindmaps Wellbeing and are arranging all the mental health first aiders to come together and discuss the people we have supported and how we can improve our mental health awareness throughout the business. Using Tim, we will be able to learn from our previous experiences and develop our approaches to workplace wellbeing.

Since the training, we have seen a significant increase in the number of mental health cases with individuals talking about stress and depression. It is difficult as a business to quantify this information as I am confident in that previous year's employees would have not been so open about their mental health and used 'other' reasons for their absence.

I strongly believe the training we have been provided has certainly started to break the stigma of mental health and as a business we are now accepting this and ensuring the employee can seek the correct help. We have used Mindmaps Wellbeing to assist these employees and to ensure they are safe to return or if the business can assist the individual back to their full duties.

Through this training, and with the support of Mindmaps Wellbeing, I strongly believe that we have not only started to break the stigma of mental health and making it “OK to talk” but also may have saved an individual from taking their own life.

“I truly believe this training has saved an individual from taking their own life.”

MHFA England two-day course

Youth Mental Health First Aid courses are for everyone who works with, lives with or supports young people. It will teach you the skills and confidence to spot the signs of mental health issues in a young person, offer first aid and guide them towards the support they need. In doing so, you can speed up a young person's recovery and stop a mental health issue from getting worse.

Our courses won't teach you to be a therapist, but we will teach you to listen, reassure and respond, even in a crisis - and even potentially stop a crisis from happening.

But more than that, we aim to give you the information and skills to look after your own mental health so that you can set an example for young people. By giving you the tools to have these conversations, we hope to empower you to create a mentally healthy, supportive environment in your family, school, peer group or community.

Let's create a future where mental health is treated as a normal part of life, in the same way as physical health. A future where every young person has access to support if they need it.

This course includes FREE access to MINDWELL companion for 3 years!

This course trains you as a Youth Mental Health First Aider, giving you:

- An in-depth understanding of young people's mental health and factors that affect wellbeing
- Practical skills to spot the triggers and signs of mental health issues
- Confidence to reassure and support a young person in distress
- Enhanced interpersonal skills such as non-judgemental listening
- Knowledge to help a young person recover their health by guiding them to further support – whether that's through self-help sites, their place of learning, the NHS, or a mix – engaging with parents, carers and external agencies where appropriate
- Ability to support a young person with a long term mental health issue or disability to thrive
- Tools to look after your own mental wellbeing

'Bridging the gap'

What is Bridging the gap?

"Bridging the Gap" refers to the period between signposting and treatment. Unfortunately, due to long waitlists for professional care, it can take an extensive amount of time to receive the necessary treatment, similar to physical health care.

Our team of mental health experts recognised this issue and created a private clinic service alongside our training courses to provide individuals with the help they need, when they need it most. Early intervention is crucial, and we're here to make a difference.

Includes FREE access to MINDWELL Companion for 1 year

At Mindmaps Wellbeing, we offer prompt support for individuals struggling with their mental ill-health. Our team of Registered Mental Health Nurses provide an initial evaluation, for a set rate. Following the assessment, we offer recommendations for next steps. In the event that a personalised treatment plan is necessary, we work with you to create a plan that fits your specific needs offering a choice of certified therapists to support you. Each therapist with their own specialism.

"I was going through a tough period and was so grateful to be able to get some support so quickly. My workplace set up a meeting with Mindmaps Wellbeing where I met Yvette, who was simply amazing! I was able to continue working. After just a couple of sessions with Yvette I was in a much better position, equipped with self-help resources and a wellbeing plan to maintain my mental wellness. I can't thank you enough for your compassion, understanding and guidance. I feel armed to face the world again!"

Debriefing After Serious And Unexpected Events

Evidence shows that teams that debrief to learn regularly perform better using the learning gained than those who do not undertake debriefing.

After a serious and unexpected incidence there is a need for teams to debrief in a safe and held manner to process the impact of the event and to consider the lessons that can be taken from the event.

Mindmaps Wellbeing has experienced clinicians who can support your team to share their experience of an event and work with them to consider any learning and how that might be taken forward to reduce recurrence and to improve service delivery.

During challenging times, employees may experience a decline in their mental & physical health, leading to extended periods of absence from work. According to industry estimates, mental health issues can cost an organisation up to £2400 per employee per year.

This may include reflecting on adverse events such as:

- Procedural errors
- Employee safeguarding incidences
- Violence and aggression
- Self-harm
- Suicide, loss and grief
- Traumatic incidents

facilitated by our expert clinicians using a range of tools such as REFLECT to provide debriefing, helping to guide learning and development and next steps.

In thriving workplaces, learning-oriented debriefings support service delivery, by helping teams to engage and leading with a positive culture of continuous learning.

Return To Work Assessment

Assessing Mental Fitness for Individuals Returning to Work

We offer a comprehensive service that can be completed either online or in person to help determine an individual's mental fitness as they return to the workplace.

The assessment is designed to provide guidance for any necessary adjustments that may be required to ensure a supportive transition back to work.

By discussing their mental wellbeing with a professional outside of the workplace, employees often find this assessment more comfortable. Furthermore, this review is relevant to all those returning from sickness, as many physical health problems can lead to mental health issues.

By Registered Mental Health Nurses or Occupational Therapist with specialist background in mental health

Our service has helped to uncover mental health struggles that individuals were hiding behind other ailments, such as 'A bad back' or 'Upset Stomach,' enabling them to receive the support they require.

Once the assessment is complete, we create a confidential report with recommendations to help support the individual in their return to work.

Providing Tailored Services to Meet Our Clients' Needs

One of our best-selling products was created when a customer inquired about a service that was not listed on our website. At the time, we were working on their customised organisational training program, and with our team's expertise, we were able to deliver the requested service. Our brochure lists the services we offer, but if you don't find what you're looking for, don't hesitate to ask! We may be able to assist you in ways you didn't expect.

Wellbeing Policy

Mindmaps Wellbeing can work with your organisation to create a new (or review an existing) Workplace Wellbeing Policy.

Do you have a workplace wellbeing policy in place?

What is a Workplace Wellbeing policy?

It is an official statement that provides the overall direction for the organisation's strategy. Defining the vision, values, principles and objectives, by establishing a focused model for action to achieve that vision.

The policy may include details outlining the health and wellbeing aims for your business on the following topics; Aim of the policy, objectives, communication, viewing and monitoring of the policy.

Our experienced team of mental wellbeing leaders and educators have worked collaboratively with organisations to enhance and clarify their stance on promoting and supporting individuals to stay well at work. Making us well positioned to ensure your workplace helps people to thrive.
